*Tolland to Read and Celebrate The Adventures of Tom Sawyer
during The Big Read Project 2010*

June 24, 2009—TOLLAND—Tolland Public Library today announced that it will participate in the The Big Read in partnership with other area libraries between September 2009 and June 2010. The Big Read gives communities the opportunity to come together to read, discuss, and celebrate one of 30 selections from U.S. and world literature. The Big Read in Tolland will focus on Mark Twain's The Adventures of Tom Sawyer.

"Tolland Public Library is delighted to celebrate The Adventures of Tom Sawyer with other area organizations in 2010, the 175th anniversary of Mark Twain's birth," says Library Director, Barbara Butler. "In 2009, The Big Read became a regional attraction connecting over 40,000 people with Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird."

20 Capitol region libraries will participate, each presenting a book discussion. They include: Andover Public Library, Avon Free Public Library, Berlin-Peck Memorial Library, Prosser Public Library, Wintonbury Branch Library, Bentley Memorial Library, Welles-Turner Memorial Library, Granby Public Library, Manchester Community College Library, Richmond Memorial Library, Mark Twain Library Association, Newington Public Library, South Windsor Public Library, Stafford Library, Kent Memorial Library, Town of Tolland Public Library, West Hartford Public Library, Wethersfield Public Library, Windsor Public Library, and Windsor Locks Public Library.

"The Big Read highlights not only literature, but also what can be accomplished in partnership," said NEA Acting Chairman Patrice Walker Powell. "I'm grateful to IMLS, Arts Midwest, and the many many nonprofits, local governments, and media outlets around the country that have partnered with the NEA to present hundreds of Big Read projects nationwide. We welcome our new community partners to The Big Read family and look forward to continuing this transformative dialogue between neighbors and across borders."

The latest Big Read grantees represent 44 states, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Since the 2006 pilot program with ten participating organizations, the NEA has given more than 800 grants to support local Big Read projects. The selected organizations will receive Big Read grants ranging from $2,500 to $20,000 to promote and carry out community-based reading programs featuring activities such as read-a-thons, book discussions, lectures, movie screenings, and performing arts events. Participating communities also receive high-quality, free-of-charge educational materials to supplement each title, including Reader's, Teacher's, and Audio Guides.

“The Institute is pleased to support The Big Read, which brings communities together to enjoy literature in their public libraries,” said Anne-Imelda M. Radice, Director of the Institute of Museum and Library Services, the NEA’s lead federal partner for The Big Read. “Libraries are community anchors that serve as centers of engagement, literacy, and lifelong learning. There is nothing better than to read a great book and share your delight and insights with others.”

The Big Read is an initiative of the National Endowment for the Arts designed to restore reading to the center of American culture. The NEA presents The Big Read in partnership with the Institute of Museum and Library Services and in cooperation with Arts Midwest. Support for The Big Read is provided by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Transportation for The Big Read is provided by Ford.
